Congratulations on your graduation! Earning a university degree is a major milestone in life, and you and your family and friends should be very proud of your accomplishment. I predict that in the years to come, you will appreciate increasingly the education you have received at the University of Maryland. The University has offered you opportunities to develop your interests and broaden your horizons. You have learned current theories that underlie your field and how to formulate your own ideas. You have also learned that it is often the right question rather than the right answer that is the stepping stone to knowledge. Your experiences here set you on course for the rest of your life. You have made friends and found mentors, and they too will add value to your life in ways that no one can predict today, except that it will happen.

As you leave us, I would like you to know how much we, the faculty and staff, appreciate your accomplishments as scholar, artist, athlete and leader—as individuals. You have enriched our lives and have helped the university reach new levels of distinction and esteem. You have now become a member of the university's alumni family, and we welcome you to this special group.

I urge you to stay connected with us and take full advantage of the benefits of being a Maryland alum. I hope that you will return to campus often, continue to support us, and help new generations of students shape their futures as you have yours. Please consider joining us on April 29 next year for Maryland Day 2006. This tradition has become a signature of the campus.

You have my very best wishes for all your endeavors. We are proud of each and every one of you!

Yours sincerely,
C. D. Mote, Jr.
President

Graduates,
 You are about to participate in one of Maryland's oldest traditions: the graduation ceremony. Congratulations!

Today, like thousands of Terps who have gone before, you will mark the conclusion of your career as a Maryland student and begin your life as an alumnus. Your alumni association recognizes and celebrates your new status with a graduation gift: a complimentary one-year membership.

Your membership, like your degree, will open a number of new doors—including those of the new Samuel Riggs IV Alumni Center. It will:

- provide you with the opportunity to host personal events at the center
- offer you access to professional and social programming
- entitle you to numerous benefits tailored to your needs
- allow you to continue to support your alma mater

For more information and to activate your membership, visit www.alumni.umd.edu. While you're there, register for the Terp Alumni Network—the online community that keeps you connected with your classmates through e-notes and an electronic directory.

Over the last decade, the university has introduced many new traditions: Maryland Day, class reunions and Terrapin Pride Day among others. Over the past few months, we have presented several more in celebration of the Riggs Alumni Center's inaugural year. But nothing can compare to that stroll across the stage to receive a diploma.

We are proud of your accomplishments and the determination that has brought you to this remarkable day. We look forward to your future as an active member of the Maryland alumni family.

Once again, congratulations ... and a traditional "GO TERPS!"

Sincerely,

Danita D. Nias '81

Although graduation is believed to be a time of ending, commencement literally means beginning. We are celebrating a new start in which we more fully mature into the skills, talents, experiences, and personalities we have uncovered and developed in the past few years. Graduation is a time for recognizing all of our accomplishments. It is a time for looking into our pasts to see from where we have come, admiring who we are today, and imagining our potential.

Each of us is focusing our personal journeys in extremely different ways, but we come here today as one graduating class to begin the next phase of our lives. In addition to gathering together now, we share a time period that others cannot fully comprehend as we do or claim as their own. We are witness to vast changes in the world and subtle shifts in individuals. As the graduating class of 2004, we have experienced tragedies locally and nationally and triumphs academically and athletically. We have relied on each other and created a community on which to depend in times of need and with whom to celebrate in times of excitement. Our strength revolves around our individuality and compassion.

We have learned both to express ourselves and convey our enthusiasm and allegiance to the university. Graduation is not a time to stop learning or sever this devotion. It is not a time to say good-bye to this campus, for it will always be our home. As much as these few years have helped us develop, our influence has made an indelible mark on the university. Maryland will be forever changed simply by our presence and our contributions.

Congratulations!

A Continuing Commitment to Excellence

From its pre-Civil War roots as the state's first agricultural college and one of America's original land grant institutions, the University of Maryland has emerged as a public research university of national stature, highly regarded for its broad base of excellence in teaching and research. Maryland's beautiful 1,200-acre campus is in the heart of the I-270 research corridor that is fueling a burgeoning information technology and biotechnology industry.

The momentum of recent years has poised the university to take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century. By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. Maryland is one of the nation's Top 20 public national universities, and the quality of our faculty—with one Nobel Prize winner, six Pulitzer Prize winners and scores of Fulbright scholars—is among the finest of any research university in the United States.

There are 13 schools and colleges within the organizational structure of the University of Maryland. Seven of these units—the Smith School of Business, the College of Education, the Clark School of Engineering, the Philip Merrill College of Journalism, the College of Computer, Mathematical and Physical Sciences, the College of Information Studies and the School of Public Policy—have been recognized by their peers and in various rankings as among the 25 best in the nation.

The breadth of this excellence is a source of pride for students, faculty and staff, and is endorsement for the university's flagship status among the state's institutions of higher education.

The university also continues to move forward in the quality of our students and the support of our faithful alumni. Freshman admission is increasingly competitive. Last year 22,000 applications were received for only 4,100 spots in the Fall 2004 entering class. Once accepted students complete their academic journey, they will join a rapidly increasing family of alumni who are proud to be called Terps. Maryland Alumni Association membership is increasing at a record rate, growing to over 32,000 dues paying members since its inception in 1989.

The university's commitment to quality education in a research environment is key to its academic reputation and the success of its graduates. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach. The research enterprise infuses the curriculum at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, exposing students to the most pressing issues and challenges in their discipline and training them to respond with rigor as well as creativity to contemporary problems.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy. Strong links to the scientific and technological agencies and organizations of the federal government drive research in the environment, engineering, physics, computer science, life sciences and agriculture. Scholarship in the arts, humanities and social sciences is marked by the spirit of intellectual diversity and interdisciplinary collaboration.

Maryland is one of the research universities in the prestigious 61-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

Total sponsored research and outreach revenue for fiscal year 2004 was a record high of more than $352 million. These funds for research, training and outreach and other public service activities come from a variety of sources including the federal government, state government, corporations and foundations.

The Office of Technology Commercialization (OTC) at the University of Maryland was established in 1986 to facilitate the transfer of information, life and physical science inventions developed at the university to business and industry. In its 18-year history, OTC has recorded more than 1,400 technologies, secured more than 270 patents and licensed more than 750 technologies, generating more than $21.7 million in technology transfer income. Through its Maryland Technology Enterprise Institute, the university collaborates with more than 280 businesses and has spawned 45 new companies—including two of Maryland's 20 public biotech companies.

History

The University of Maryland was founded in 1807 in Baltimore as a faculty-owned College of Medicine. The medical school was considered one of the top schools in the country, attracting notable professors and lecturers from throughout the world. In its beginning, tuition cost $140, grades were sent home weekly to parents, and students could obtain room and board for $300 annually.

Five years later, the growing institution was renamed the University of Maryland. Despite the name, the university was not considered a state institution as it was still owned and operated by faculty. Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the first dental school in the world, became a part of the university in 1840, awarding the first Doctor of Dental Surgery (D.D.S.) degree in 1841.

In 1859, the Maryland Agricultural College, which would evolve into the University of Maryland, College Park, was opened under a charter secured

The University Is On the Move

- Leading the Way: Among Top 20 national public universities, Maryland is No. 1 in the total number of degrees conferred upon African American students.
- New Homes for Innovation: We're building the state's largest-ever research park, M Square, which will bring nearly 6,500 new jobs to the area. The state of Maryland also recently approved $60.6 million in planning and construction funds, allowing us to break ground on a new Bioscience Research Building, bolstering the university's goal to provide regional leadership in education and research for the biosciences.
- Our Constellation of Stars: The quality of Maryland faculty ranks among the finest of any research university in the United States and includes one Nobel Prize winner, six Pulitzer Prize winners and 34 National Academy members.
- Impact of Another Kind: NASA turned to the university to lead a $279 million mission that promises astronomers a first look inside a comet, revealing the pristine materials that form the basis of our solar system. The Deep Impact mission is on target for a July collision with Comet Tempel 1.
- Lighting a Path: The university is embarking on a new fundraising campaign that includes among its goals raising at least $200 million for student scholarships, which are needed to ensure that lower- and middle-income students graduate with a reduced debt load. Co-chairing this important effort is alumnus and men's head basketball coach Gary Williams.
- An Economic Force: The University of Maryland generates $5.93 of economic activity for every dollar appropriated by the General Assembly, providing a statewide impact of nearly $1.8 billion annually.
- Lending Knowledge: With three million volumes and eight libraries on campus, the university's library system is the largest in the state.
- Protecting our Communities: The Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute trained more than 31,500 sorely needed professionals during the last fiscal year.

by a group of Maryland planters in 1856. In addition to spending one hour each day hoeing or plowing on the college farm, students took a broad range of courses in ancient and modern languages, natural sciences, English and mathematics. After a disastrous fire on campus in 1912, the state acquired the college and rebuilt it.

In 1920, the state legislature combined the College Park institution with the professional schools in Baltimore to form an expanded University of Maryland. The entity eventually grew to include campuses in Baltimore County, the Eastern Shore and University College, a continuing education institution.

The following decades saw the increasing growth of student population, excellence in programs and curricula, and the burgeoning of the University of Maryland, College Park, into a nationally recognized research institution.

July 1, 1988, marked the dawn of a new era in higher education in the state of Maryland, as the five components of the university were merged with six other state universities and colleges to form the University System of Maryland, and College Park secured its flagship status with a mandate to become one of the pre-eminent research universities in the nation.

The Alumni Association

With alumni clubs from Miami to Taipei, Taiwan, the Maryland Alumni Association strives to keep and strengthen ties between the university and its graduates.

Member events such as pre-game parties, bull roasts, picnics, golf tournaments, dinner cruises and subscriptions to Terp, the University of Maryland magazine, help keep alumni connected to the university and to each other. All graduating seniors and successful master's and Ph.D. candidates receive a one-year free membership in the Maryland Alumni Association.

The Alumni

The Maryland Alumni Association's Hall of Fame honors university graduates who have brought honor to their alma mater through distinguished careers in a variety of disciplines. The following 35 individuals have shown the world what it means to be a Terp.

Customs of Commencement

Early commencement ceremonies at the University of Maryland were marked with great fanfare and celebration. The faculty gave huge banquets for the graduates the night before the event. The following morning, crowds gathered to watch the young graduates parade. It was a gala social occasion, attracting not only friends and relatives, but the fashionable elite of the day. At the ceremony, prayers were recited, speeches were made, and honorary degrees were awarded to distinguished figures from across the country. Finally, as the audience cheered and threw flowers, the graduates came forward to collect their Latin-inscribed degrees.

Academic Costume

The black caps and gowns worn by the students and faculty in the academic procession have been the traditional costume of scholars since the Middle Ages. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was similar to that of a cleric. Caps and gowns were probably worn to keep students warm in unheated buildings. Many medieval scholars were tonsured, like monks, and hoods served to cover their shaved heads until the skullcap later took its place.

Even after the Civil War, most students at American universities wore caps and gowns daily while in residence. These varied in design until they were standardized by the American Intercollegiate Commission in 1894. At that time it was decided that all robes would be black. Colors on the trim of the gown were also standardized to indicate the scholar's academic discipline.

A list of department colors follows:

Agriculture: Maize

Arts, Letters, Humanities: White

Business Administration: Drab

Commercial Science: Drab

Dentistry: Lilac

Economics: Copper

Education: Light Blue

Engineering: Orange

Fine Arts, Architecture: Brown

Forestry: Russet

Home Economics: Maroon

Journalism: Crimson

Law: Purple

Library Science: Lemon

Medicine: Green

Music: Pink

Nursing: Apricot

Oratory, Speech: Silver Gray

Pharmacy: Olive

Physical Education: Sage Green

Philanthropy: Rose

Philosophy: Dark Blue

Public Administration, Foreign

Service: Peacock Blue

Public Health: Salmon

Science: Golden Yellow

Social Work: Citron

Theology and Divinity: Scarlet

Veterinary Sciences: Gray

The tassel may also be colored to represent an academic discipline or it may be black. Officially, the tassel is permitted "to lie where it will" on the mortarboard.

However, numerous institutions have adopted the practice of having degree candidates wear the tassel on the right front side at the start of the commencement ceremony and then shift them to the left side after degrees are awarded.

Student Marshals

Elected through a nomination process, student marshals are senior leaders who play an important role in the graduation ceremony. Student marshals assist in organizing the thousands of graduates, leading them smoothly through the commencement procession. They also supply extra caps and hoods, and bobby pins to keep headwear secure. May 2005 marshals are listed on page 81 of this booklet.

Senior Gift

Since 1910, members of the graduating class have supported a senior gift designed to commemorate their college experience. Traditionally the gift serves as a contribution to the campus community that forever links alumni with the university. Past gifts include the Testudo statue, gardens, artwork, contributions to the library and support for projects such as the Jim Henson statue and the sundial.

This year's senior gift, a custom-designed clock bearing the University of Maryland Globe, is now mounted in the Stamp Student Union Food Court. The Senior Picture Mosaic, encompassing the photos contributed by senior students to recognize their collegiate experience, is also displayed in the Stamp Student Union.

If you would like to be a part of this time-cherished tradition of philanthropy by donating to the Senior Class Gift, visit www.seniors.umd.edu or call 301.314.GRAD for more information.

Academic Degrees

A degree is awarded for the successful completion of a course of study. There are more than 1,600 different academic degrees currently conferred by colleges and universities nationwide. The University of Maryland offers degrees in 90 undergraduate majors, 97 master's programs, 73 doctoral programs and one first professional degree.

The Doctor's Degree

The doctor's degree represents the most advanced earned degree conferred by American institutions. There are two distinct types: the practitioner's degree and the research degree. The first type represents advanced training for the practice of various professions, principally Doctor of Medicine, Juris Doctor, Doctor of Pharmacy, and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. These degrees do not involve the completion of original research by the student. The University of Maryland, at the professional school in Baltimore, awarded the first two dental degrees ever on March 9, 1841, and invented the name of the degree, Doctor of Dental Surgery (D.D.S.).

The University of Maryland conveys the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine (D.V.M.) to approximately 90 students each year in a program that was instituted in 1980. Graduates receive a diploma containing the seals of both the University of Maryland and its partner institution, the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

The second type is the research doctorate representing prolonged periods of advanced study. A dissertation that usually accompanies the study is intended to contribute substantially to the body of knowledge on the subject. The most important of these, the Doctor of Philosophy, no longer has an implication of philosophy for its holder, but represents advanced research in any of the major fields of knowledge. It was first awarded in the United States in 1861 by Yale University. The University of Maryland awarded a Ph.D. for the first time in 1920.

The Master's Degree

The master's degree is an academic honor bestowed upon students who have successfully completed work beyond the baccalaureate.

A thesis and an oral examination are usually required.

In 1920, the University of Maryland awarded its first Master of Arts (M.A.) and Master of Science (M.S.) degrees in fields other than agriculture.

The Bachelor's Degree

The bachelor's degree represents the completion of a four-year course of college-level study and is the oldest academic degree awarded by American institutions of higher learning. It was first conferred in America in 1642 on the first nine graduates of Harvard College. Maryland Agricultural College, which later became the University of Maryland, College Park, awarded its first Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) and Bachelor of Science (B.S.) in 1862.

Andrea Mitchell covered her first presidential campaign in 1972 from Philadelphia as a broadcast journalist. Last August, as she covered her eighth campaign, Mitchell broke the story that Sen. John Kerry chose Sen. John Edwards to run with him. This time, she worked under the title of Chief Foreign Affairs Correspondent for NBC News, the title she has held since 1994.

Before taking on this position, Mitchell was the Chief White House Correspondent for the first two years of the Clinton administration and had also covered the president's domain throughout Ronald Reagan's two-term presidency. In the 2000 decision, she hosted "The Mitchell Report," NBC's broadcast of record and, in 2004, she was a recurring guest on "Hardball." Throughout her years as a journalist, Mitchell has interviewed leaders such as Madeleine K. Albright and Condoleezza Rice. Of course, Mitchell has not limited her coverage to American leaders or American issues.

In fact, Andrea Mitchell garnered a series of exclusive interviews with Cuban President Fidel Castro that led to a one-hour documentary in December 2003 looking at, among other issues, the Elian Gonzalez case. Having covered the intelligence community extensively, Mitchell has also reported on pre-Iraq war intelligence and interviewed an anonymous CIA agent speaking out against the war. She also covered the United Nations debate prior to the Iraq war and has given reports on Osama bin Laden and Al-Qaeda since 1996 as well as interviewing international figures such as Prince Saud al Faisal, Saudi Arabia's foreign minister.

Mitchell graduated from the University of Pennsylvania with a degree in English literature and currently serves as a trustee, a member of the executive committee and chairman of the Annenberg School Advisory Board.

She lives in Washington, D.C., with her husband, Federal Reserve Board Chairman, Alan Greenspan.

Addresses Graduates

Melissa Boteach

Recipient of the University Medal

Awarded at May Commencement to the graduating senior who best exemplifies academic distinction, extraordinary character and extracurricular contributions to the campus or public communities. Consisting of a gold medal and a cash prize, it is the highest honor the university can bestow upon a graduating senior.

Melissa Boteach passionately and intelligently acts as a change agent, demonstrating that one person can make a difference, especially when practicing the idea of interdependence.

Graduating with double degrees in government and politics and Spanish, Boteach plans to continue her work “to change the world.” More specifically, she will head to University College Dublin (Ireland) after graduation on a Mitchell fellowship to study equality and international development.

“It’s the fastest growing economy in western Europe,” she says of Ireland. “And there’s a lot of opportunity for out-of-classroom experiences.”

It seems that’s how Boteach does much of her learning, taking what she gleans from professors and texts and pouring it into real-world applications. She founded the Fair Trade Advocacy Club to make the university community aware of the importance of supporting sustainable agriculture and equitable global trade. The group counts among its successes the willingness of several campus outlets to sell fair trade coffee. Boteach believes that many people don’t realize that buying one cup of coffee has powerful implications worldwide.

She credits many of her achievements to this principle. In her personal statement for the medalist application, she writes, “So much of what I have done has been achieved by rallying the help of others and so much of what I hope to do rests on working with them in an interdependent paradigm.”

Boteach’s accomplishments include winning a Harry S. Truman Scholarship (for juniors with outstanding leadership potential, who plan to pursue careers in public service after graduate school), being named a Dean’s Senior Scholar by the Department of Spanish and Portuguese and receiving a President’s Scholarship. Melissa was also instrumental in the Democracy Collaborative’s observations of Interdependence Day in 2003 and 2004, a worldwide celebration for which Maryland served as the main campus.

The middle child of three sisters, Boteach says that she would one day like to pursue a doctorate and teach, or work for a non-governmental organization. For now, she’s doing the learning and hoping to share as much as she can with others. She realizes that interdependence, specifically thinking about all purchases in a global context is a challenge. “But I will continue to live ... with a general conscientiousness to do what we can with what we have.”

Fernando Balderrama

When Fernando Balderrama was just a child living in Bolivia, he witnessed the horror that poverty caused in the world around him. Although his family believes he was too young to remember them, the “images of desperate people rushing through the streets in search of food” have stayed with him throughout his life. These strong images impacted both who Balderrama is and who he hopes to be in the future.

As a teenager, Balderrama was not discouraged by all that he had seen. Rather, he used his experiences to help victims of the Santa Cruz riots, assisting in the coordination and leadership of activities in the Lourdes Clinic, as well as other orphan and retirement homes. With the support of his family, who he says, “taught me the importance of hard work, integrity, independence and personal responsibility,” Balderrama became an American Field Service exchange student in the United States. Both in his high school and when he was admitted to “Maryland’s finest university,” this ambitious young man sought to integrate the Latin American culture with his new environment through salsa and merengue dances. He later served as the Spanish mentor in Maryland’s Language House.

Balderrama carries his hope for integration into his education and plans to do so when he enters the workforce. Graduating with a triple major in business, economics and French, he will go to London next year to pursue a master’s degree in development studies so he can be “one step closer to finding possible solutions to extreme poverty and underdevelopment” around the world, he says.

The greatest lesson he has learned at Maryland and will take with him into the world? “All of us have the capacity to encourage others to believe in themselves. Whether or not we choose to advance this capacity is a personal decision that we make every day.”

Bachelor's degree candidates who have qualified for scholarship honors upon graduation are designated by appropriate symbols adjacent to their names within the alphabetical listing of colleges or schools.

To be eligible for consideration for such honors a candidate must meet the following general criteria: (1) have completed at least two years of work at the University of Maryland (60 semester hours, 30 of which were earned at the College Park campus) and (2) have a scholastic average of a "B" (grade point average of 3.0) or higher in the University of Maryland work prior to the last semester of registration before the awarding of a degree.

Degree candidates who have met these criteria are shown in the listings as qualifying, upon graduation, for the designators Summa cum Laude (if they ranked in the top 2 percent of the candidates in their respective colleges or schools), Magna cum Laude (if in the next 3 percent), or cum Laude (if in the next 5 percent) based on the grade point averages of students in the preceding three graduating classes of their degree-granting unit.

The May 2005 class roster comprises degree candidates from the graduate and undergraduate programs at the University of Maryland, College Park. As final action cannot always be taken for candidates by the time this program is printed, the list of candidates here is tentative only. The university reserves the right to withdraw or add names. Diplomas (for other than doctoral degrees) will be mailed by the Office of Records and Registration.

The Senior Marshal Program began in 1991 as an opportunity to acknowledge outstanding seniors at their commencement. The students selected to be marshals were nominated by faculty, administrators and staff for their outstanding accomplishments and contributions to the University of Maryland. We are proud to recognize these truly remarkable students.
